ASX RELEASE

COMPANY UPDATE

31 March 2016, Sydney, Australia: 8common Limited ("8common" or the "Company") (ASX: 8CO) is a global performance and productivity software company that focuses on delivering solutions to enterprise and government clients in Australia, North America and Asia. 8common provides investors with unique and valuable exposure to software as a service ("SaaS") and cloud-based technology markets.

INVESTMENT HIGHLIGHTS

- Track record of identifying and executing value-accretive acquisitions in high growth sectors
- Loyal blue-chip and government customer base with high customer retention and stable long term contracts
- High quality mix of predominantly recurring and transaction based revenue
- Revenue growth driven by increasing existing client ARPA (Average Revenue Per Account) and new client wins
- expense8 capturing a sizeable portion of the Travel & Expense Management opportunity in Australia; global SaaS market expected to hit US$12B by 2018
- Strong and growing network of strategic partners who can be leveraged to access new markets and revenue streams
- Significantly undervalued in comparison to peers; current valuation does not reflect 8common's existing business and growth opportunities through valuable exposure to SaaS and cloudbased technology

NEAR TERM MILESTONES

- Continued growth in demand for SaaS services in Asia-Pacific market
- Increasing monthly recurring income from cloud-based delivery model
- Continued migration of customer base to the cloud, generating more consistent cash flows
- Continued assessment of potential value-accretive and synergistic acquisition opportunities

Executive Chairman Nic Lim said: "We are very pleased with the strong growth and continued performance across our product platforms. The next 6-12 months represents an exciting period for the Company as we continue to migrate clients onto our cloud-based platform and deliver strong organic growth through cross-selling opportunities and increased market reach."

Why invest in SaaS and cloud computing?

Global forecast for SaaS market is US$12bn+ by 2018, driven by strong adoption by government and corporate entities

SaaS and the global software market

- Growth in mobile usage and cloud computing has driven a move from supplying in-house, or onsite hosted products, to increased engagement in a SaaS business model
- SaaS is expected to be a US$12bn+ market in 2018
- SaaS market represents only 2% of the global software market
- SaaS growth driven by government and corporate entities

SaaS market growth forecast (US$bn)

Why SaaS?

- Reduced IT costs for businesses No need for organisations to manage the direct and indirect costs of software upgrades, maintenance and storage
- Flexibility Greater flexibility to meet changing business demands
- Increased productivity Greater productivity as software can be accessed from broader range of locations
- Enhanced user experience More seamless updates and powerful software packages

Why invest in a cloud-based delivery model?

- High barriers to entry Due to difficulties in accessing software and significant challenges around ground-up development of software in-house
- Reliable recurring revenue stream Reliable, monthly revenue providing more stable operating cash flows to assist long term growth

Strategic business model

8common is very focused on organic growth while continuing to assess inorganic growth opportunities

8common's growth strategy

- Build towards a leading market position with existing products and a strong team in place driving growth
- Identify new product opportunities with a large potential market which can leverage existing customer networks
- Inorganic growth through assessing and implementing strategic revenue accretive acquisition opportunities which significantly enhance the existing product offering
- Organic growth driven by the redeveloped product platforms for expense8 and perform8, cross-selling opportunities and the efficient management of strategic partners that drive greater market reach for products

Providing exposure to a low risk, growth focused software company that is building dominant positions on the back of existing revenues

Product growth life-cycle

| Identify | Acquire | Enhance | Transition | Grow |
|--|---|---|---|---|
| Identify product opportunity with a large addressable market, and which complements existing suite of 8common products | Effectively 'acquire' R&D through strategic revenue-accretive acquisition opportunities, generating diverse revenue streams | Re-develop and enhance acquired products to optimise synergies with existing products and organic growth opportunities | Transition existing customers onto newly redeveloped product platforms, typically with long term multi year contracts | Re-developed product platform optimised for organic regional and global growth through increased sales and marketing |

8common's product life cycle leads to a de-risked SaaS proposition

- ✓ Diversified product suite with complementary attributes
- √ R&D is effectively 'acquired' through strategic and revenue acquisitions
- ✓ Many small-cap companies are only at product validation stage while 8common is successfully growing its client base and increasing product usage and the number of transactions
- ✓ Currently generating revenue with promising growth from organic and inorganic sources
- ✓ Each core product generates diverse revenue streams comprising implementation, platform and usage fees
- ✓ Software sales team already in place with extensive experience in the industry
- ✓ Long term and 'sticky' relationships with loyal blue-chip corporate and government agency customer base
- ✓ Long term multi year contracts in place with existing customers
- ✓ High customer retention rate and diversified geographic revenue with access to growing Asian market

Importance of strategic partnerships

Strategic partnerships drive greater market reach and enhanced user experience, as well as being vital to winning government clients

8common's strategic partnerships

- 8common's strategic partnerships and collaborations are an important part of its growth strategy and ongoing business
- These partnerships drive greater market reach and enhanced user experience by:
 - ✓ Seamlessly integrating products into potential client's systems by providing single interface for the end-toend booking process and saving time for users of 8common's products (online travel booking through Amadeus can be entered automatically into the expense8 system)
 - ✓ Increasing cross-selling opportunities for both the expense8 and perform8 products
 - ✓ Accessing a large pool of potential clients in various regions consisting of federal governments, state governments and multi-national corporates (strategic partnerships with QBT and Amadeus in particular have been vital to winning government clients)

Valuation and peer comparison

8common's current valuation does not reflect its business and growth opportunities through exposure to SaaS technology

- 8common's larger market capitalisation peers trade on significantly higher revenue multiples than 8common, suggesting significant upside for the Company
- 8common's smaller market capitalisation peers are generally not as diversified on a product or geography basis, yet still trade on higher multiples

Cloud conversion and revenue model

Customers on 8common's cloud-based platform typically spend 50-100% more annually, with conversion program well-progressed

Conversion to a cloud-based platform

- The traditional approach is to host software on the customer's premises (onsite software)
- 8common uses a cloud-based platform to make software available to customers over the internet
- This model has lower fixed costs and reduced per customer costs allowing 8common to scale rapidly so there is no practical upper limit to the size of the Company's client base
- To date, 8common has successfully converted 70% of its existing customer base to the cloud, with onsite clients to be upgraded to the cloud from April 2016 onwards
- 50-100% increase in annual spend from converted clients, as use of more features leads to higher numbers of users on the platform and higher transaction volumes

Cloud conversion metrics above are based on the percentage of 8common's forecast revenue

Diverse revenue streams

8common's strategic business model creates diverse revenue streams comprising platform-based, transaction-based and adhoc revenue

Platform-based

- Recurring month-on-month revenue
- Monthly fee includes basic support and access to product platform

Transaction-based

- Subscription fee based on number of users
- Usage fee based on number of transactions entered onto product platform

Ad-hoc

- Implementation fee invoiced once-off on signing of new customer contract
- Revenue for other ad-hoc services (e.g. design)

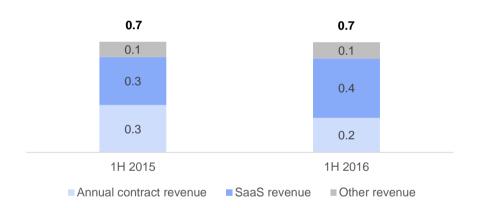

8common's re-developed flagship travel and expense ("T&E") management product is a top tier product in its class

| Identify | Acquire | Enhance | Transition | Grow |
| ✓ | ✓ | ✓ | ✓ | Current focus |

- NSW Department of Education transitioning from beta to live version
- Existing Federal Government agencies looking to move to the new platform
- Movement of existing clients to new platform expected to increase total annual contract value by between 50% and 100%

realtors8

- Strategic partnerships in Asia expected to increase market reach and product awareness
- Potential partnerships across North America and South East Asia to drive market share and product adoption
- New customer acquisitions and increased existing customer spend expected from enhanced product offering following acquisition of Clicksold and RealPageMaker

perform8

- Renewed contract with Department of Defence
- Product implementations with 7-Eleven, Sydney Airports, Chobani and Brother
- Successful completion of the Defence Support Operations campaign with the Department of Defence
- Full year FY16 result will be the first full year of earnings captured from perform8 acquisition

8common

- Focus on increasing ARR across all projects
- Continued growth in demand for SaaS services in Asia-Pacific
- Increase in monthly recurring income from cloud-based delivery model
- Continued migration of customer base to the cloud, generating more consistent cash flows
- Continued assessment of potential value-accretive and synergistic acquisition opportunities
